FATHER JOHN HORGAN

Father John Horgan was born on December 30, 1958 in Cambridge, Massachusetts in a devout Catholic home. Father John attended Harvard University, majoring in religious studies and graduating magna cum laude in 1980 when he began his studies for the priesthood in Rome. He received his bachelor of philosophy, bachelor of sacred theology, and master's in moral theology at the Angelicum in Rome in 1985. After meeting Father Patrcik Tepoorten and other Vancouver priests he volunteered to come to Vancouver and worked with the Office of Religious Education and was assigned to Holy Rosary Cathedral.

Father John would eventually be ordained Deacon at the Cathedral by Archbishop Carney and then was ordained to the priesthood in Rome by Pope Saint John Paul II on May 25, 1986. He returned to Vancouver to serve the archdiocese for over three decades; serving as pastor of Saints Peter and Paul in Vancouver and St. Pius X in North Vancouver before being assigned in 2021 to Immaculate Conception in Vancouver.

In 1996 he returned to Rome to complete his licentiate in sacred theology with emphasis in medical ethics and healthcare. He wrote his thesis on the Vatican's 1995 Charter for Healthcare Worker.

As a moral theologian he lectured locally and internationally and was frequently consulted on medical ethics. He was an expert on saints and his lifelong interest in the subject led to a diploma magna cum laude from the Studium of the Congregation for the Causes of Saints. With expertise in the investigation and evaluation of candidates for sainthood, he advised on numerous sainthood causes and served as a vice-postulator for the cause of Blessed Marie of Jesus Deluil-Martiny (1841-1884), the founder of the Daughters of the Heart of Jesus, a community of cloistered Sisters dedicated to Eucharistic adoration and reparation.

Father John served as a chaplain at Vancouver hospitals, including St. Paul's during the AIDS epidemic in the 1980s and served for several years as the archbishop's representative to the Catholic Health Care Association of British Columbia.

He was a chaplain to numerous organizations, from Vancouver College, to the St. Thomas More Catholic Lawyers Guild, the Catholic Physicians' Guild of the Archdiocese of Vancouver, the Knights of Malta and the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre of Jerusalem, and for more than a decade to the Musqueam Indian Band.

From the 1990s Father Horgan was a familiar face and voice of the Archdiocese of Vancouver internationally after beginning an association with EWTN. He made many EWTN appearances on radio and TV and appeared several times with EWTN founder Mother Angelica. He had two television series and hosted the series Angels of God, based on his 2018 book His Angels at Our Side: Understanding Their Power In Our Souls and the World. He went to Hanceville, Alabama, to concelebrate Mother Angelica's funeral Mass in 2016 and his voice could be heard on EWTN reading the psalms and Scripture verses each day.

He looked after many first class relics of many Saints and had a collection of more than 14,000 books.

After receiving all the Church's sacramental consolations and blessings he returned to the House of the Father on October 19, 2022.

A memorial Mass for Father John will take place Thursday, Oct. 27, at Immaculate Conception, Vancouver at 11 AM. On Thursday Oct. 27 there will be a vigil service at 6 PM followed by a Latin Requiem Mass at 7 PM at Sts. Peter & Paul parish in Vancouver. Archbishop J. Michael Miller will celebrate the funeral Mass at noon, Friday Oct. 28, at the Cathedral.
